D&D Consulting becomes part of Technology Capital Investment Group

~ Transaction provides springboard for service offering expansion ~

Albany, New York (July 12, 2010) Technology Capital Investors (TCI) today announced the acquisition of Albany technology solutions firm, D&D Consulting Ltd. The agreement effective June 24th, 2010, allows TCI to further extend their geographical reach to the Capital Region.

D&D Consulting will continue to provide technology integration services for mid-market and enterprise clients. In addition, D&D will expand their existing service portfolio to utilize TCI resources, including their enterprise class cloud computing offerings, hosted solutions, and a suite of managed services.

Christopher Labatt-Simon, previous CEO of D&D Consulting Ltd., becomes Executive Vice President and remains a shareholder in the organization. He commented, "Becoming part of TCI's group of companies is a great strategic move for D&D. We are seeing organizations in all sectors rapidly migrate towards cloud, hosted models, and hybrid solutions".

"D&D is an excellent fit within Technology Capital Investors' existing portfolio. I am delighted to be able to work with D&D Consulting, an organization with a pedigree of delivering innovative technology services," Samuel Attias, Founder and Managing Director of Technology Capital Investors commented. "Cloud computing is the future and, while not every organization is ready to move to an outsourced model, the combination of skills and services between our two organizations will mean that we are able to provide unrivalled flexibility of solution delivery to our customers."

Together, D&D Consulting and TCI will deliver cost effective and resilient infrastructure solutions at an enterprise level. It is expected that their new expanded cloud offerings will be launched shortly. Existing outsourced solutions from other TCI group companies will be available immediately.

Labatt-Simon continued "We will combine our existing information technology and private cloud services with our new public cloud computing capabilities creating solutions that drive business value for our existing customer base and organizations in our region."

"We focus on providing expanded resources, such as cloud computing, business and balance sheet management and capital to further the growth of the companies we invest in," explains Attias. "Our portfolio only includes organizations with best in class management, excellent reputations and a focus on client service. These strengths are inherent in the fabric of D&D's service delivery model."

Attias adds, "Our intention is that D&D Consulting will become the leading technology partner in upstate New York to guide and help organizations as they adopt outsourced infrastructure strategies, while we will continue to drive and support their insourced requirements."
